Coast Guard Removes 200 From Area Directly In Path of Hurricane.

(By International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS—A terrific gale, probably a hurricane at its center, veered westward from the central Gulf of Mexico toward the Texas coast today.

The storm center was located at 9 a. m., about 325 miles offshore, almost equidistant from Louisiana on the north and Texas on the west, moving 'rather rapidly" toward the coast, the weather bureau said.

Shifting gales covered a large area of the central and northwest gulf and northeast storm warnings were up from Apalachicola, Fla., to Brownsville, Tex.

The gale's broad area still spelled danger to the coasts of Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. Tides ran high, particularly along the sea-level Louisiana shore near the mouth of the Mississippi river.

Every precaution was taken to advise coast residents of their danger. Coastguard planes last night flew over the area dropping messages to warn the threatened districts, and in some instances loud speakers from low-flying planes shrieked instructions for the evacuation of imperilled sections.

Coastguard headquarters reported at least 200 persons had been removed from areas directly in the indicated path of the big blow.

In New Orleans, police mobilized trucks and automobiles and called for volunteer rescue workers to be ready for relief work at any point where assistance might be needed on the Louisiana-Mississippi coasts. The Red Cross also marshalled its forces for rescue work, and made ready for the

FALL ARRIVES

Autumn Season Scheduled To Bow at 5:33 A. M. Tuesday.

Autumn stood in the wings today waiting for the cue for her 1941 appearance. The new season will open officially tomorrow at 5:33 a. m. Mansfielders have had several previews of fall weather, however, for the past few weeks.

Highest mark hit by the mercury over the week-end was 82 degrees registered yesterday. High for Saturday was 80 degrees. Low for Saturday was 45 degrees and for Sunday, 42. The average temperature for the past 24 hours was 62.2 only seven degrees higher than the 16-year average.

The weatherman predicts fair and slightly warmer weather for tonight. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and cooler with the threat of scattered showers moving towards the northwestern portion of the state.

AIDE SELECTED

Lakewood Man Named Ohio Defense Council Assistant.

COLUMBUS— (U.P.) —Executive Director Courtney Burton of the Ohio council of defense today announced the appointment of Wilfrid J. Burns, 46, Lakewood, as his assistant in directing the defense program.

Burns will receive an annual salary of $4,500, and will assume his duties immediately. He formerly was vice president and director of the Wagner Baking company of Chicago.

The New Supreme Court: Young, Beardless, Liberal

Byrnes Douglas Reed Roberts Stone Black Frankfurter Murphy Jackson

Members Of 'Younger Blood' U. S. Court Average 56 In Age

By ALEX. R. GEORGE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court, which opens its 1941-1942 session Oct. 6, will be the youngest and from the standpoint of judicial experience, the "greenest"—in more than a century.

Seven of the nine justices will have been members of the high court less than four years. All, excepting the new chief justice, Harlan Stone, and Justice Owen Roberts, have been appointed by President Roosevelt since his unsuccessful attempt to infuse "younger blood" into the court by enlargement of 15 justices and compulsory retirement at the age of 70.

Only two members were judges before coming to the high tribunal. Justice Hugo L. Black was a police judge early in his career and Justice Frank Murphy served as judge of the recorders court in Detroit for several years. Three justices, Stone, Murphy and Robert H. Jackson, are former attorneys general of the United States.

The average age of the court members is 56 compared with 71 when the President launched his court fight in 1937. None is in the "old man" class. The oldest, Chief Justice Stone, is 68. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes was 79 when he retired last summer and Oliver Wendell Holmes was over 90 when he left the bench in 1932 because of failing health.

The departure of Hughes leaves the court without a beard or a mustache for the first time since pre-Civil war days. To court visitors the symmetrical white beard and "classic countenance" of the stately Hughes was a near-perfect symbol of the court's traditional dignity. He seemed made to order for the role of No. 1 man in the $8,000,000 white marble temple of justice.

Chief Justice Stone, born on a New Hampshire farm and a progressive Republican, was appointed to the court in 1925 by

Blood Actually Flows After Hollywood Night Club Battle

(By Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD—Most night club battles are bloodless. A couple of futile swings, then the principals are stopped.

That Hollywood's latest fistic fillip early Sunday was different, apparently, was not the fault of either principal Actor Errol Flynn or Gossip Columnist Jimmie Fidler, just back in town after testifying in Washington before a senate committee investigating movie propaganda.

Most accounts credited Flynn with striking two blows (whether slaps or socks was disputed); and Fidler with none. Yet Flynn came off with a gouged ear, dripping blood.

He said diminuitive, darkhaired Bobbie Fidler did the damage with a fork, adding:

"But she made the very grave social error of using the wrong fork."

Mrs. Fidler coldly denied the accusation.

Flynn, chatting while his ear received the cold water treatment, said he took exception to certain of the columnist's statements about the movies.

"I put my left fist up against his chin and gave him a slap with my right hand on the side of the head," said Flynn. "I said: 'You're not worth a fist.'"

Fidler, dictating an account over the telephone, said Flynn struck twice, at intervals about 30 minutes apart. Fidler noted that after the first flareup, Flynn was on the floor. But he took no credit, suggesting:

"He . . . had either fallen or tripped."

The band quickly brought things under control the last time, playing "The Star Spangled Banner."

THREE INMATES FLEE AT O. S. R.

Trusties Believed to Have Boarded Train In Flight From Pasture Field.

Three trusties escaped while on farm duty at the Ohio State Reformatory today and Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke said he believed they hopped a Baltimore & Ohio railroad freight train as it passed near the institution grounds.

Sent out to bring in colts from the colt pasture on the farm, Glattke said the youths had all been "model" prisoners since their admittance in 1940.

Two of them, George Liggett, 22, and Henry Benson, 22, had been sentenced for taking part in the same burglary. They were sent to the reformatory from Auglaize county on Nov. 22, 1940, and were serving 1-to-15-year sentences.

The other youth, Raymond Brown, 24, was sentenced to the prison on Oct. 4, 1940, from Hamilton county. He was also serving a 1-to-15-year sentence for burglary.

When the trio failed to report back to the reformatory a search party was sent to investigate at 6:30 a. m. Glattke said state wide police radio broadcast was made in efforts to apprehend the trio.

Second Organizer Arrested In Strike Difficulties Here

With one labor organizer already waiting arraignment on disorderly charges in connection with a strike of Mansfield bartenders, another was arrested today as the result of an altercation at the Cement Products plant on Park avenue east.

Russell Kemp, organizer of the Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers union, Local 40, AFL, went to police headquarters today after learning that a warrant had been sworn charging him with assault and battery.

Complainant in the case is Frank Scheurer, 121 East Fourth street, one of the workers at the plant who complained Thursday that gravel and cement had been placed in his gasoline tank.

Scheurer charges that Kemp struck him last Wednesday as he was going to work. Kemp was given a continuance until Oct. 3

Convention Flags Gone, Moose Back Home After 4-Day Frolic

Gaily colored banners, flags and streamers which kept Mansfield in a convention atmosphere all last week disappeared like magic last night and today Mansfielders knew that the 12th annual state Moose convention was over.

Crews worked all night last night to take down the street decorations and this morning little remained as a reminder that Mansfield had played host for four days to some 4,000 visitors and delegates from Moose lodges throughout Ohio.

Finishing up business details at an executive board meeting yesterday, Moose officials announced that the next state meeting would be held in Canton and that Columbus units had captured both the ritual and drill team competitions held Saturday.

Second place in the ritual competition was awarded to a team from Elmwood Place, a suburb of Cincinnati, and a Middletown unit won the third place.

Cleveland lodge members placed second in the drill competition.

Climaxing their convention with a three-mile long parade through Mansfield streets Saturday, the lodge members elected new state officers for the coming year and inaugurated an Ohio State university scholarship to be awarded each year before adjourning.

Selected as the first recipient of the four-year scholarship was Wallace Nichols of Cambridge. Nichols has recently been graduated from Moose high school at Mooseheart, Ill.

Other youths, officials said, would be selected each year to receive the scholarship award.

Elected to fill state Moose positions during the coming year were Charles Dornhecker of Canton, Elmer T. Phillips of Youngstown, and Capt. N. K. Brumbaugh of Youngstown. Paul W. Ritchie of Mansfield was

FACE COURT

19 Indicted By Grand Jury To Enter Pleas Today.

Most of the 19 persons indicted openly last Friday by the Richland county grand jury were to be arraigned this afternoon before Judge C. H. Huston in common pleas court.

Assistant Prosecutor Charles Freehafer said the secret indictments were not served until today and the defendants could not be arraigned until later in the week. The jury returned 18 secret bills.

Among the defendants who were to go before the court today were Milo W. Thompson, Ashland, indicted for second-degree manslaughter in the death of a 13-year-old boy who was struck by Thompson's car in Lincoln Heights, and two Mansfielders held on criminal assault charges. They are Clifford Stake and Charles Hartman.

Italians Claim Surprise Naval Attack Victory

Rome Says Marine Units Struck Under Guns of Fortress; Bulgaria Steps Up War Preparations; All of Crimea Isolated, Say Nazis.

BULLETIN

MOSCOW—(AP)—The fiercest fighting on the whole Russian battlefront flamed toward a climax today around Leningrad where armament workers called upon the great port city's defenders to "win or die."

(By Associated Press)

Premier Mussolini's high command reported today that Italian warships entered the port of Gibraltar, Britain's great Mediterranean fortress, and sank four merchant ships under the guns of the big rock citadel.

The bold foray was recounted simply in this brief Italian communique:

"Assault units of the Italian marine entered the bay and inner port of Gibraltar, sank one tanker of 10,000 tons, another of 600 tons and one steamer of 6,000 tons, loaded with munitions, and seriously hit a steamer of 12,000 tons loaded with war material.

"This steamer hit against rocks where it was stranded and therefore can be considered lost.'

In authoritative London quarters, the Italian claim was met with 'absolutely no comment."

The Italian attackers probably were the fast, torpedo-firing motorboats in whose developments Italy has pioneered. They are capable of an elusive getaway.

The Italians must have developed a special technique or taken the British completely by surprise, for the Gibraltar harbor, enclosed by moles, nets and minefields and protected by guns high on the rock, long have been regarded as secure against torpedoboat attacks.

Aside from an Italian torpedo attack on Gibraltar shipping last year, it was the first naval assault since France and Spanish ships unsuccessfully shelled the British garrison there in the winter of 1782-83.

Meanwhile, war-like preparations in Bulgaria, ostensibly aimed at Turkey, were emphasized today by reports that King Boris III of Bulgaria was en route to a meeting with Adolf Hitler.

In Berlin, authorities expressed the opinion today that "it is out of the question that King Boris is en route to meet Hitler." This constituted substantially a denial of Ankara BBC reports that the Bulgarian monarch was en route to see the reichsfuehrer as a "prelude to declaring war on Russia."

The London radio, quoting unconfirmed Turkish advices, said Field Marshal Gen. Walther Von Brauchitsch, commander in chief of the German army; Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, German naval chief, and Nazi Foreign Minis-

Divert War Supplies From British To Russia To Forestall Crisis.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Immediate American assistance to Soviet Russia's armies will be accomplished by diverting airplanes, tanks and other weapons from the British to the red forces, it was indicated today.

It was estimated that up to 500 airplanes a month might be consigned to the Russians if British authorities would waive their prior rights to such equipment. There was some reason to believe that administration military advisers would be reluctant to agree that any large proportion of aid-to-Russia material should be obtained by diminishing deliveries to the United States army. Demands Arrest Of Senator If He Backs Lindbergh

NEW YORK—(INS)—The arrest of Senator Gerald P. Nye—if he endorses Charles A. Lindbergh in a scheduled Brooklyn speech tonight—was demanded today by former New York Magistrate Joseph Goldstein.

Goldstein in a telegram to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia asked the arrest of Nye if during his speech he backs Lindbergh's Des Moines address in which the flyer blamed the British, the Roosevelt administration, and the Jews for steering the U. S. toward war.

Goldstein said that such an endorsement would be "inciting to riot." He said he plans to attend the America First rally and personally will attempt to arrest Nye if the senator seconds Lindbergh's utterances.

Brooklyn police announced that a detail of 250 patrolmen had been assigned to guard the Brooklyn Academy of Music, scene of the scheduled speech.

13 Hurt In Mansfield Area Accidents, 20 Killed In Ohio

Automobile accidents injured at least 13 persons in the Mansfield area over the week-end as the death toll in Ohio mounted to 20, highest in recent weeks. Five of the victims were killed early this morning in two southern Ohio mishaps.

Two persons were injured Saturday night and Sunday in Mansfield while a driver involved in one of the mishaps was fined $200 today in municipal court for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

John J. Grega, jr., 308 Miller street, was fined by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch who revoked his driving permit for one year. The court suspended $125 of the fine on the condition that Grega repairs the damage to a car driven by Rosie Moore, Plymouth.

Grega's car collided with one operated by the Plymouth woman Saturday night at Sixth and Bowman streets, injuring Mrs. M. Jones of Shelby who was treated for bruises.

GEN. JOHNSON: Say Pay Boost for Armed Forces Studied

By HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—As this column has recently conjectured, the probability of very bad news out of Russia is increasing—both "before snow flies" and afterward. When I say conjectured, in military issues of these columns, I mean "guess." The factual information is still so scanty and the conflicting lies from the warring capitals so big that about all an honest commentator can do is to keep sticking pins in the map, getting all the information possible on weather, geography and production in the various theaters of war, and drawing conclusions from whatever accumulated knowledge he may have about the history and strategy of previous wars and, in the revolutionary changes of modern mechanized war, even the latter is dangerous.

Johnson

It is impossible to believe that the losses of both men and material on both sides have not been staggering and that as yet the Nazis have not been fatally hurt.

On the other hand, it is difficult to put much reliance on local Russian successes on the central front in checking the drive on Moscow. It cannot have much effect in stopping the terrific German assault on both flanks — at the south through the Ukraine and bypassing Odessa, cutting off Crimea and, at the north around Leningrad.

In old times successful pressure against an attack at any particular point—in the center, or on either flank—could delay or even shatter the offense. But in this case the length of the battle front is magnificent in distance. From the Leningrad front to Smolensk is upward of 400 miles and from there to the southern flank about 600 miles. When you recall that the Gettysburg front was about seven miles long and that Lee's early success in a smash at the center after failing at the flanks didn't have any effect, you can appreciate how little a slight denting of the Nazi lines around Smolensk will have on the northern and southern drives except, perhaps, to put the armies defending Moscow in a salient or pocket outflanked from both north and south.

This dangerous situation seems to be being recognized and admitted more clearly as the days pass. In fact, we are told that the only escape is a tremendous immediate contribution of American and British supplies to Russia. As has been frequently pointed out in this space, the greatest Russian weakness is that she has not a sufficient industry to back her armies and that no nation can long endure modern war without a great steel, chemical and manufacturing industry.

Fighting qualities of the highest order, Russia has shown, and Britain and America should do all they can, as the president proposes, to supply her deficiency in arms.

But what can they do? We have not yet reached sufficient production in cannon, medium and heavy tanks and ammunition to be a factor. Some airplanes we can send but, as between our own and British needs, they can't be enough.

On top of that, the distances of these lines of supply are long and the transporation facilities inadequate.

Also, while winter will help the Russians it will not help them to nearly the same extent that it did against Napoleon. His army moved on horses or on foot. The ice marshes froze and starved them. But Mr. Hitler's outfit moves on wheels and not by forage but by gasoline and fuel oil. Level ground frozen hard as concrete will relieve him of his dependence on roads.

ARMY, NAVY USE LIVE BOMBS IN WAR MANEUVERS

81 Planes to Take Part In Test Raid Today In Louisiana.

(By United Press)

BARKSDALE FIELD, Shreveport, La.—Eighty-one army and navy planes loaded with real bombs today raid this area to test their destructive effectiveness on 100 over-age tanks.

A hurricane hovering off the Louisiana coast was not expected to delay the air arms' biggest maneuver with real ammunition.

Flying fortresses, dive bombers, medium bombers and the army's fast little "aircobra" P-39 fighters will participate in the raid, a "sideshow" feature of the army's greatest peace-time maneuvers.

An attack by parachute troops also will be demonstrated, although the parachutists will not be endangered by use of real ammunition. Likewise the tank targets of the bombardiers will be stationary and will not be manned.

This live bombing, as have most of the features of these maneuvers, parallels training that the German army and Luftwaffe carried on for years before the outbreak of the war.

A Luftwaffe officer told me in Berlin last year how entire towns in Poland had been evacuated after the conclusion of the Polish campaign and had been turned over to student officers to "capture" under battle conditions.

The Germans also have found live bombing practice extremely valuable.

"It is the only way a bombardier can really get the feel of his mission," German airforce instructors told me.

While high army officials attended the bombing display, the second and third armies moved into position along a new "front" in Louisiana where the second phase of the maneuvers will begin early Wednesday.

It was understood that this new campaign will be built around the Red second army's defense of Shreveport, its new maneuver headquarters.

The quail hunting might have been good Saturday back of the county jail almost in the heart of Mansfield if there had been any open season on quail. A covey of birds stopped on the jail lawn to look for food during the afternoon and remained until night, apparently not frightened by the noise of the Moose parade and the Saturday traffic. The birds are scarce in this section of Ohio and are rarely seen in the city. A state law protects them from hunters.

REVISION OF DRAFT SYSTEM ALSO FAVORED

Changes Proposed to Equalize Incomes With Those of Defense Industries.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A member of the senate military affairs committee today reported that high administration officials favor a pay boost for 2,000,000 soldiers and sailors, and forecast a major revision of army policy, including a drastic change in the draft system.

This member, Sen. Sheridan Downey (D. Calif.), said that a pay boost of perhaps $30 a month is favored by many officials as a move to equalize army and navy pay with that in defense industries.

The proposed new army policy, he said, would be aimed at seeking a smaller unit—perhaps numbering 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 men—with a high efficiency, youth and morale rating and a long enlistment period.

"I am reliably informed that the administration is now looking with favor on increased pay in the army," Downey said. "I have been told that army and administration heads are now proclaiming the necessity of additional compensation for the armed forces.

"I am sure that the army and the administration are preparing to reduce the size of the army and get away from the draft. I think they have given up the idea of training vast numbers of recruits each year, and have worked out a tentative plan for an army of 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 men, who would be in the army long enough to be trained thoroughly for modern warfare."

The pay boost issue, Downey said, will come before the senate military affairs committee in October. The committee now has before it three bills on this subject, one of them sponsored by an administration senator.

Under present schedules army privates receive $21 the first four months, $30 the next eight months and $40 after one year. The highest base pay for an enlisted man is $125 a month for a master sergeant.

Downey is advocating a pay boost of $30 a month, the increase to be withheld until the enlisted man is discharged. Sen. Johnson (D. Colo.), has proposed a 25 per cent increase in pay, while Sen. Hill (D. Ala.), has proposed an investigation on the question of equalization of pay.

The proposal to revise army policy and abandon, at least temporarily, the plan to train hundreds of thousands of draftees for a short period, is said to grow out of the difficulty of training men in the art of modern warfare in a short period.

Fear that it might confront an emergency with an untrained army was given by army heads as the reason for extension of the period of service of draftees to 18 months. The army is, however, discharging many draftees and national guardsmen at the expiration of one year.

DEATH CLAIMS ATTY. M'CRAY

Mansfield Attorney 41 Years, Captain During World War, Succumbs at Home.

Thomas Y. McCray, 63, Mansfield attorney for 41 years and a captain in the first World war, died Sunday afternoon at his home at 172 Wood street after a lingering illness. He suffered a stroke several weeks ago and had been unable to leave his home since the attack.

Atty. McCray was admitted to the bar in 1900 after graduating from the Ohio State university law school. He immediately began practicing law in Mansfield and remained here during the rest of his life. He was city solicitor of Mansfield for two terms.

In 1917 he enlisted in the Officers' Training corps at Fort Harrison and later was commissioned a captain in the 180th division. He was at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, during most of his army service.

Atty. McCray was born in Mansfield June 26, 1878, and lived here all his life except the time he was in camp during the war. His parents were Atty. Thomas Y. and Mary Barnhill McCray, pioneer residents of Mansfield. He was graduated from Mansfield high school in 1895. In 1903, Atty. McCray married Miss Sara Mitchel who is the only survivor.

He was a member of the First Congregational church, Sigma Chi and Phi Beta Phi fraternities, McVey post, American Legion; Mansfield Masonic organizations, and the Ancient Order of Scottish Rite, Columbus.

Funeral services will be held at the family residence at 1:30 p. m., Wednesday. Rev. Peter Young, pastor of the First Congregational church, will officiate. McVey post of the American Legion will assist with the services. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

FIRE DAMAGES JUDGE'S HOME

Defective Wiring Believed Cause of Loudonville Blaze.

LOUDONVILLE — Starting from what was believed to be defective wiring, a fire swept the upper stories of the home of Judge Homer Graven here early this morning.

On their arrival firemen found that the fire had swept through the third floor bathroom and had reached a cupola atop the structure.

Mrs. Graven said the loss was covered by insurance, but that six of the ten rooms in the home were damaged to such an extent that they had to be abandoned for living purposes.

COLUMBUS WOMAN VICTIM OF TRAGEDY WHILE VISITING SON

(By United Press)

FORT KNOX, Ky.—A weekend visit of a Columbus, O., mother to her soldier-son ended in tragedy when she was abducted by an enraged man and killed with him and another innocent victim in an automobile collision.

The dead were:

Mrs. John A. Bentz, Sr., 46, Columbus, who was visiting her son, Private John A. Bentz, Jr., a selectee at Fort Knox.

E. J. Beam, 35, who had abducted Mrs. Bentz and was driving her car.

Eugene Myers, 21, Elizabethtown, Ky., driver of the second car.

Ordie Irwin, 17, and Evelyn Lusby, 17, both of Elizabethtown, and Josephine Majara, 17, Springfield, Ky., companions of Myers, were injured seriously and brought to the camp hospital.

State police said Beam was driving on the wrong side of the road at high speed. They believed rage over loss of his job at a Vine Grove, Ky., filling station Saturday was responsible for Beam's reckless series of acts.

Military police at Fort Knox said Mrs. Bentz and her son's wife were visiting Bentz. The three were seated in Mrs. Bentz' car at a roadside inn near the army camp when they were approached by Beam, who allegedly was intoxicated.

Beam forced Bentz and his wife from the car at the point of a gun, authorities said, and drove away with the elder Mrs. Bentz. Bentz summoned military policemen who failed to overtake the car before the collision.

STEAL CAR, LEAD

Thieves Get 1,000 Pounds of Metal at Plumbing Shop.

A company automobile and about 1,000 pounds of lead were stolen from the warehouse of the Charles Hoffman Plumbing company on West Temple court during the night, Mansfield police reported today.

Company officials estimated their loss at about $200 and said that the burglary must have occurred after 2 p. m., yesterday when workmen left the building.

Police began an investigation of the case. The lock to the warehouse door was taken by the burglars preventing police from determining whether it had been broken or opened with a key.

G. F. BAUER DIES

Bucyrus Resident Succumbs After Illness of Two Weeks.

BUCYRUS — George Frank Bauer, 56, died yesterday at the county home after an illness of two weeks.

He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church northwest of Sulphur Springs.

He is survived by two brothers, Jacob of Warren and Daniel at the County home; four sisters, Katie and Alma Bauer at the Home, Mrs. Fred Schnarrenberger of Chatfield township, and Mrs. Ruben Ream of Bucyrus.

Funeral services will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran church with Rev. Morhoff, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

YOUTH SENT TO JAIL 30 DAYS

Pleads Guilty To Charge Of Stealing Purse.

Pleading guilty to a charge of petit larceny in connection with attacking a woman on East Fifth street and stealing her purse early today, a colored CCC youth was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in Richland county jail by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in Municipal court this morning.

Bradford Whitney, Toledo, admitted grabbing Mrs. B. F. Gerardot, 21½ East Fifth street, from behind and holding his hand over her mouth while wrestling for possession of her purse, according to police records.

Mrs. Gerardot told police the colored youth ran through an alley near her home. Police picked up Whitney in the vicinity a few hours later.

TAKES OWN LIFE

George Rose, 62, Found Dead at Home; Rites Tuesday.

George Emery Rose, 62, operator of the organizer department of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company for 25 years, was found dead at his home on Ninth avenue with a bullet wound in his head shortly before noon Sunday.

Coroner L. B. McCullough returned a verdict of suicide. He said Mr. Rose apparently had been dead since late Saturday afternoon. Sheriff Frank Robinson said the body was found by Pauline Smith, 32 Sycamore street, who went to the home to visit Mr. Rose.

The sheriff said Mr. Rose had been despondent since the death of his wife, Mrs. Jeanette Cline Rose, last June 30.

Native of Ellsworth, O., Mr. Rose had lived in Mansfield since 1917. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and the Mutual Benefit association of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company.

Surviving are two sons, Glen E. Rose and Wayne A. Rose, both of Mansfield, and a brother, Charles Rose of Toledo.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Jones Memorial with Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body is at the Memorial where friends may call.

ITALIAN SHIPS STAGE SURPRISE RAID ON 'ROCK'

Claim Four British Vessels Are Sunk In Naval Attack on Gibraltar Fortress.

ter Joachim Von Ribbentrop would attend the meeting.

In Berlin, the Wilhelmstrasse reported that Bulgaria had been "brought into a state of higher watchfulness," which, it was said, was not surprising in view of the reported landing of Russian parachutists on Bulgarian soil.

King Boris' departure followed his inspection of Bulgarian troop maneuvers by the biggest army called to the colors in the nation's history.

Neutral observers interpreted Bulgaria's military preparations as part of a German plan to high-pressure Turkey, Britain's non-belligerent ally, into making concessions which would aid the Nazi cause in the Middle East and Russia.

In that area, a German sweep which the Nazi high command said had carried the Swastika to the Sea of Azoo menaced the Soviet naval arsenal city of Sebastopol with the apparent isolation of the entire Cremean peninsula as the Russian-German war entered its fourth month.

The reported success in southern Russia was but one of a series of triumphs announced by the German high command while the Russians acknowledged the fall of Kiev, the third Soviet city.

For their part, the Russians said a large part of the force which defended Kiev for so many weeks was falling back to prepare defenses for Kharkov, principal city of the next apparent objective, the Donetz basin.

Extremely heavy fighting before Leningrad and Odessa was reported by Russian sources in Moscow. They said their forces were taking a heavy toll of the besiegers.

The loss of Kiev emphasized to many Britons that Russia must have help immediately and newspapers in London set up a clamor for more aid to Russia, and that soon.

The Red army tersely acknowledged the fall of Kiev, Ukraine capital and Russia's third greatest city, but declared that a Soviet counter-offensive on the central (Moscow) front had recaptured 32 villages and driven the Germans from a strongly fortified line.

Leningrad's position apparently was growing more critical by the hour. Soviet dispatches admitted that Nazi dive-bombers were smashing at the old czarist capital and its 3,200,000 populace with "such ferocity it seems the earth itself will split."

Report British Sink Two Italian Liners

LONDON—(AP)—British submarines sank two large Italian liners in a raid Sept. 18, the admiralty reported today.

A third liner in the Mediterranean convoy was damaged, a communique said.

All three were believed to be vessels of the 24,469-ton Vulcania class.

Pledge Punishment For Nazi Slayers

VICHY, Unoccupied France—(AP)—A vow in the name of the German army delivered at the bier of a captain killed by terrorists in Paris to "employ every means that these attacks, which cause indignation in all honorable men, shall not go unpunished," was disclosed today in the Paris press.

The fact that the slain officer, a Captain Scheben, was given an official funeral yesterday at Madeleine church in the center of the occupied capital, indicated that the Germans attached considerable importance to the attack.

An announcement said Scheben was the victim of a cowardly attack last Tuesday.

(Twelve hostages already have been shot for the death last Wednesday of a German non-commissioned officer attacked two days before.)

Vichy Fears All France To Be Seized

BERN, Switzerland—(AP)—Authoritative sources declared here today that some elements in Vichy fear that all France may be occupied if shootings and sabotage attributed to Communist elements persist in the German-occupied zone.

Puts Convoy Attack Off Iceland Coast

BERLIN—(DNB)—The official German news agency DNB reported today that a mass U-boat attack last week on a British convoy, credited with sinking 28 merchant vessels, took place in waters off the coast of Iceland.

Report Nazis Attack Dagoe Island

STOCKHOLM—(DNB)—German troops are attacking Dagoe Island in the Gulf of Riga after completing occupation of the other islands in the group, Oesel, Moon and Vormsi, Finnish reports reaching this city declared today.

Claim Red Attempt to Flee Base Thwarted

BERLIN—(AP)—German shore batteries thwarted an attempt by Russian warships to flee the silenced Kronstadt island naval base near Leningrad, authorized German sources announced today, while the high command reported continuing destruction of Russian troops trapped east of Kiev in the south.

Nazi shore guns scored direct hits on a Russian cruiser and destroyer at Kronstadt, it was said. Both vessels immediately ceased firing, authorized sources added.

RAF Continues Offensive in Europe

AN ENGLISH COAST TOWN—(U.P.)—Flights of British bombers streamed across the Straits of Dover to attack France this afternoon as clearing weather enabled the Royal Air Force to continue its offensive against the continent.

Red Air Force, Army, Hammer Nazis

MOSCOW—(U.P.)—The Red air fleet, co-operating with army units, hammered furiously at enemy columns to break up German thrusts into the Ukraine today as official sources charged Bulgaria with plotting to provide a base for a Black Sea attack on Russian oil fields.

Enemy tanks, motorized units and infantry columns were reported heavily bombed by Russian planes on the southern front and the besieged Black Sea port of Odessa radioed that it was standing stronger than ever as a bastion far behind the Nazi front lines.

RUSH U. S. AID TO RED ARMIES

Divert War Supplies From British To Russia To Forestall Crisis.

on such matters rests, however, with President Roosevelt and his cabinet.

President Roosevelt has summoned congressional leaders to the White House today for a conference at which he is expected to emphasize the need for quick congressional action on his new request for an additional $5,985,000,000 in lend-lease funds. The conference may develop a full presidential review of Russian military events and a report on what assistance this country plans to extend to Russia.

Sen. James E. Murray, D., Mont., whose colleague, Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., is the leader of anti-administration forces, denounced suggestions that the Soviet union should be excluded from lend-lease assistance. Murray said aid to the red army was the most urgent current problem of the democracies.

Sen. Walter F. George, D., Ga., who recently surrendered the senate foreign relations committee chairmanship to head the committee on finance, predicted that the "impending crisis" on the Russian front would convince congress that aid to the Soviet union was essential. George did not foresee any real legislative difficulty in the way of the lend-lease bill with respect to the Soviet union or otherwise.

While the flow of lend-lease supplies to Great Britain is more of a trickle than a torrent, it is a fact that the period of United States arms production expansion is just beginning.

Furthermore, prior to appropriation of lend-lease funds last March, Great Britain had placed tremendous orders for cash. Deliveries on those orders presumably far outnumber lend-lease deliveries, especially in airplanes. Any big rearmament of the red armies would have to change the destination of some of those cash British orders from London to Moscow.

U. S. War Materials Reach Russian Waters

WASHINGTON—(UP)—American supplies already are being shipped to Russia over the North Atlantic as well as the Pacific, official sources revealed today.

A Panamanian freighter with a cargo of petroleum products and other supplies purchased here by Russia was understood to have reached Russian waters near the Arctic port of Archangel after a three-week voyage from an Eastern United States port.

The route to Archangel is expected to be used increasingly during the next few weeks before that port becomes ice-bound, for the Russian needs have become urgent and for the time being this country is concentrating on helping the Russians rather than the British.

To reach Archangel, the Panamanian vessel had to travel over the North Atlantic to the Norwegian sea, passing between American-occupied Iceland and German-occupied Norway.

Cleveland Police Investigate Attacks on Girls, Women.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The 19th attack on women and girls in greater Cleveland within the past six weeks today intensified a drive by police to halt the wave.

Latest case to come to the attention of police was a daylight attack by three men yesterday in Metropolitan Park, Shaker Heights, on a 10-year-old Cleveland Heights girl. She was seized as she crossed a foot-bridge in the park.

She told police that the men, all Negroes, knocked her down and attempted to drag her into some bushes, but were scared away when she screamed.

feeding and housing of any persons made homeless.

Because of the threatened hurricane, the third air task force operating with the Red army ordered evacuation of all planes under its command in the Lake Charles area. Fast pursuit planes at New Orleans were flown away last night to Kelly and Randolph fields, and other ships from Lake Charles followed. Large numbers of planes were in the area in connection with the war maneuvers and army officials said they were taking no chances that the ships might be wrecked should the storm hit air concentration points.

It appeared unlikely the storm would interfere greatly with the war games, which have been recessed until Tuesday midnight to give the soldiers a rest.

THE RECORD.... Facts That Concern You No. 31 of a Series

SOME PEOPLE NEVER LEARN... but most of them do!

There are always a few "smart alecks" who want to stand up and rock the boat. But most people try to keep out of trouble.

The same sort of thing happens in the retailing of beer. The great majority of beer retail establishments are clean, law-abiding and wholesome. But occasionally you may find a "smart aleck" retailer who violates the law or permits anti-social conditions.

We of the brewing industry want these anti-social retailers wiped out! Because they imperil your right to drink good beer...and our right to make it.

We want to protect the benefits that beer has brought to Ohio—employment for 50,196 persons since relegalization, an annual payroll of $46,441,543 and taxes of $10,717,714 paid to the state last year.

This state, too, has an important stake in Beer's purchases from over 100 industries supplying the brewing industry with materials, equipment and services.

You can help us in our public-spirited program by (1) patronizing only reputable and legal beer establishments and (2) by reporting any irregularities you may see to the proper authorities.

abrasions. She was taken to General hospital. The car was driven by Lester E. Blatter of Seville who told police he did not see Mrs. Reid as she stood in the street waiting to cross.

W. G. Dickenson of Grand Rapids, Mich., escaped with a cut on his left wrist early Sunday when the tractor-trailer he was driving plunged into Charles Mill lake after going off U. S. Route 30.

Dickenson told sheriff's deputies he swerved the truck to avoid hitting an automobile which was turned around in the highway. A relief driver with him was not injured.

Mrs. A. Keifer of Lima was treated at Galion City hospital Sunday for fractures of her left wrist and right arm following an accident near Galion. Taken to the same hospital was Clarence Auck of Bucyrus who suffered cuts on his head when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an automobile.

Mrs. William Leitch, Salem, was in Mansfield General hospital today after the car in which she was a passenger was involved in a collision with a truck early today on U. S. route 42 four miles north of Mt. Gilead.

Fred D. Wills, the truck driver, was found guilty of reckless driving when taken before Mayor J. P. Bennett of Mt. Gilead and was fined $150 and costs. He is in the Morrow county jail.

Robert Hanlon, Mansfield, received a fractured shoulder and head injuries Sunday night when his car sideswiped another and turned over in a ditch near Bucyrus. He is in City hospital at Bucyrus. Richard Shupp, Mansfield, riding with Hanlon, was not injured.

Three Newcastle, Ind., men were killed early today when their car failed to round a curve on route 27 near Hamilton.

when he appeared in Municipal court this morning.

Truck drivers at the Cement Products plant have been striking since last Monday. Kemp said that Scheurer was one of the men hired when truckers went on strike. The truckers are seeking overtime pay after 12 hours of work each day.

John Neznik, 125 Distl avenue, an organizer for Bartenders' local 270, AFL, will be arraigned tomorrow on disorderly conduct charges in connection with the picketing of three downtown grills.

Neznik was arrested on the complaint of Russell Matthes, proprietor of the Crescent Cafe, one of the three being picketed. The men became involved in an argument after Neznik went to the cafe to demand the union card of his local.

The bartenders are picketing the grills because they refuse to sign new contracts which would shorten the work week from 54 to 48 hours. The union claims that 21 of 24 grills have already signed contracts.

Neznik said that the contract with the Crescent Cafe stipulates that the union contract will be returned to the union upon demand.

Akron Murderer to Start Life Sentence Today.

AKRON—(INS)—Sheriff Walter P. O'Neil prepared today to take Albert Lukens, 58, to Ohio penitentiary to start his life sentence for the cremation murder of Ruth Zwicker, 24, in North Hill Methodist church last Easter Sunday.

Only signing of the necessary papers by Common Pleas Judge Walter B. Wanamaker was delaying Lukens' removal to the penitentiary from Summit county jail.

Lukens was found guilty last week of first degree murder by a jury which recommended mercy, making the life sentence mandatory.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1941

It is now being suggested that the senate might do well to investigate senate investigations.

Formula for a successful speech: Have a good beginning and a good ending—and keep them close together.

The strike which gave Kansas City a "blackout" experience the other night was just as effective, while it lasted, as a Nazi bomb dropped on the power plant—and just as inexcusable.

Crisis In Russian Defense

BELATED determination of the United States and Great Britain to divert a greater flow of war supplies to Russia may yet be effective in turning the tide of battle which has recently been running strongly toward the Nazi invaders.

The fall of 1000-year-old Kiev, first great Russian city to be taken by the Nazis, and the current German successes in the Ukraine are a heavy blow to the defense of Russia.

They do not mean, however, that the Russian army has been knocked out, nor that an early end of the war on the eastern front is in prospect. There always is the possibility of an unexpected Russian collapse but that still seems remote.

Russia is counting on the start of winter in another month to immoblize a great stretch of the fighting lines in the center and north. To quit now would be to sacrifice a valuable ally in nature. The Russians undoubtedly reason that if they can hold out into the winter, they will be able to carry on to spring, by which time United States and British aid may be coming through in sufficient quantities to change the outlook.

That Russia is preparing for a long war is shown by the decision to call up all males between 16 and 50 for military training.

Russia may have suffered 3,000,000 casualties in the war to date, as London estimates assert, but there are millions more to replace them. Also, if the Germans suffered 2,000,000 casualties, according to the London figure, the drain has been proportionately as great or greater, in comparison with relative man power.

For the Russians, it is not so much a question of man power as of equipment. They have lost heavily in tanks, airplanes, artillery, trucks and other military stores. Their problem is how to replace them and keep on fighting.

There must be a swift flood-tide of war supplies to prevent military disaster. There is a limit to what that heroic Red army can endure, and Hitler might effect a separate peace, which would be disastrous to the democracies. "The whole history of the world," says a British expert, "turns on the outcome of this battle. We will fight on even if Russia is beaten, but then it will become much harder."

Harder for America, too, as well as Britain.

Trans-Atlantic Air Express

THE START of regular air express service across the Atlantic this month is a development which might well have been undertaken sooner. Air express in the United States has been in operation for fourteen years. Freight has been carried by plane to remote and inaccessible areas where railroads have never been built and water transportation has been available only seasonally. In northern Siberia, in the interior of Australia, in South American jungles and in the sparsely settled northern half of Canada, air freight has been the means of delivering mail, food, and even heavy machinery and tools.

Air express rates have been high in the past, but are coming down now with increases in quantity carried. And regardless of rates, air express across the Atlantic is worth while at present because it is safer and quicker than water transportation.

Most of the goods shipped by this method will go to the British Isles, but shipments may be made to Europe if accompanied by "air-certs," or certification from the British consular officials that they contain no contraband.

After the war, unquestionably, such service will continue, although then there should be plenty of cargo for ships, too.

Hymns of Three Faiths

THERE is a new Army and Navy Hymnal for use on American ships and in the chapels at army camps. William L. Stidger, whose column, "Getting the Most out of Life," deals chiefly with religious topics, has high praise for the book, on which the government has spent about $50,000. "For once," writes Mr. Stidger, "the taxpayers have got their money's worth."

The unique feature of the hymnal is that it contains hymns for Protestants, Catholics and Jews. It will help, he believes, to overcome certain old inter-denominational prejudices and remind Americans once more that these three religious groups all worship the same God. At the same time, it sacrifices no part of the separate and distinct beauties and values of the three spiritual paths.

Finally he calls the book worthy of a place in anybody's library. It contains not only the great religious music of three great faiths, but is at the same time "an excellent piece of bookmaking, beautifully printed and sturdily bound."

Here is further evidence that America, in its gigantic all-out defense effort, is not losing sight of the special values that make our way of life worth defending.

Wild Animal Population Gains

ONE form of conservation has been markedly successful. The yearly big game census and estimates based on it indicate that the number of such animals has doubled every 10 years since 1908. In national forests and other protected areas other forms of wild animal life are also gaining.

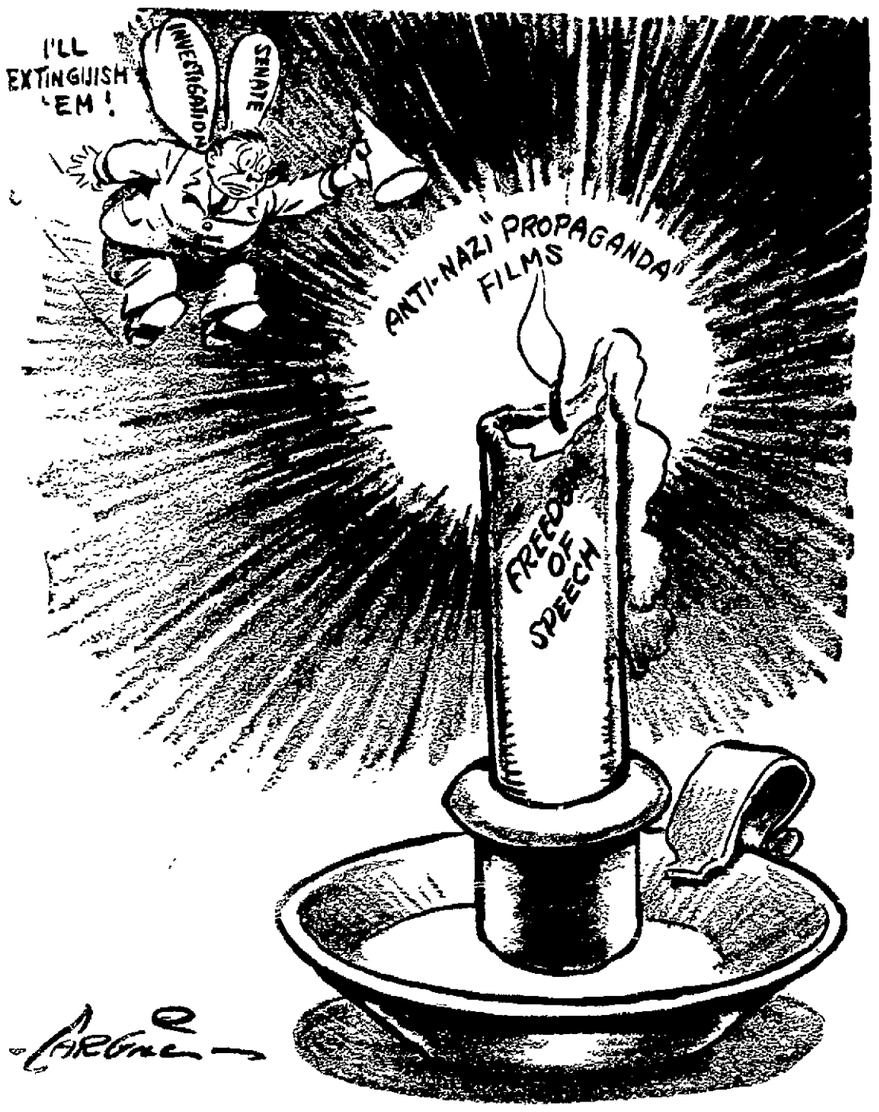
Wolves are increasing along with deer. Bobcats and coyotes, brown and grizzly bears, and other creatures of the forest multiply, some of them under man's protection and some in spite of his efforts to get rid of them. The European wild boar, which was imported to mountainous regions in the East and in California, for sporting purposes has become thoroughly acclimated and the census last winter listed 790 of the animals.

It will be a day to celebrate when conservation of soil and water attains a like high degree of success.

After all, it isn't quite fair to use Marlene Dietrich as a model in proving the attractiveness of cotton stockings.

It was a nurse who reported the remark of the father of triplets: "I can hardly believe my own census."

THE MOTH ATTACKS THE CANDLE



Look Toward Expeditionary Force

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Just after President Roosevelt's announcement that he had ordered the navy to "shoot on sight," several officials and newspapermen were discussing what it would take to produce a declaration of war by congress.

Boiled down, what they really were interested in was what it would take to make the American people mad enough, and in sufficient majority, to authorize an expeditionary force of DRAFTED men.

Most of those present confidently expected the dispatching of an expeditionary force, possibly of marines, LONG BEFORE this much-discussed declaration of war by congress is reached. For instance it would surprise none of them if we wake up some morning and hear the announcement that marines have been landed at Bathurst, just south of Dakar. Not to attack Dakar, of course, but to "protect American interests" there.

It might not be Bathurst, but it almost certainly will be some port on the west coast of Africa, whichever is chosen of the several under consideration as landing fields for the airplanes being flown to the British in the Near East via Brazil and Africa.

In fact the announcement will probably not come until D. N. B., the official Nazi news agency, has discovered it and proclaims it wrathfully to the world. The president of the United States has the power to land marines anywhere, just as he has the right to send ships of the navy anywhere. He can also give them shooting orders, just as he has given the navy.

BUT such a landing, it was contended in this discussion, though expected by everyone present, would not inflame the people further against Germany. On the contrary it would just give the isolationists something more to talk about.

"But suppose," said one official, "that this force of marines, landed say at Bathurst, should be attacked by a German army from Dakar. Suppose it should be hard pressed, and another Dunkirk on a smaller scale should be threatened. Would congress under those circumstances refuse to vote to send reinforcements to those threatened American marines? What would happen politically afterward to the senators who dared filibuster while American boys were dying for lack of help?"

This was considered interesting, but not convincing, by most of the others. Not convincing because it was thought unlikely that this danger of a Dunkirk for American marines in West Africa would materialize.

THE SINKING of an American warship, even if only a destroyer, by a German torpedo was considered far more likely. If enough of our ships are looking for raiders and submarines, it was pointed out, and the Germans have their orders to fire also, which no one doubts, then it would seem that sooner or later an American ship will go down, and with considerable loss of life.

This wonder as to what the reaction of the American people will be cannot be satisfied by logic. Peoples do not seem to react logically to given sets of circumstances. William S. Knudsen found general agreement recently when he said that a few bombs dropped in America would do the trick, but that is almost the least likely of the eventualities.

All that the group could be assured of, as the talk concluded, was that it was just a question of time. Sooner or later the spark that will fire the explosion will come, though no one can foretell just when, nor what its nature will be.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, Sept. 22, 1921.

It was asserted that reformatory prisoners credited to Cuyahoga county were "mostly transients."

Harry C. Karcher left for Boston to enter Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Crying Eases Inner Tension

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

HATS OFF to Dr. Arthur N. Foxe of New York who, for the first time so far as I know, has stated openly that crying should have a place in the medicine chest.

I used to know an old doctor who made his women patients cry at nearly every visit he paid to them by his bluntness. The women always used to knock him when they met at the church socials but I noticed they always sent for him the next time they were in the "dumps" or even when they were really sick.

Stoicism is all right and a very wholesome quality denoting an ability to endure trying circumstances. But one can question the type of stoicism which is present when there is no real need. Why shouldn't a man cry at his son's wedding? Why shouldn't you cry at the movies? That is why you go there. It is just as good as an aspirin or a teaspoon of magnesium sulfate.

Crying Helpful.

Many forms of illness show a tendency to recovery after weeping or crying. If a sick person weeps in his first hour, it is considered a good omen. It should not be considered a weakness to cry.

Sometimes it is almost an impossibility to do so. Here it is a bad sign. We all know those who have received such a series of steady blows from the real world that it was well nigh impossible to resolve any one of these blows. The degree of tension inside is extraordinary and continues for a long period of time.

If we look for a human pattern of crying, we must turn to the infant. At least one-third of its emotions are expressed by screaming or crying. And it is considered proper to let the baby cry long enough to cry himself to sleep.

A mother who does not permit the child to cry by itself binds it more closely to her. A child that cries by itself undoubtedly achieves a great degree of independence from personal attachment. When the child is crying and the mother does not appear one must assume that child weans itself in a way.

Crying of Children.

"Women often have asked me about this matter," says Dr. Foxe, "and in one parent-teacher group it became an acute problem. I will confess that I was perplexed at first as to what to advise. In my perplexity, I have advised mothers to look ahead and to try to anticipate in what sort of a world their children will be living in their second, third, and even fourth decades of life and what they would prepare their children for, a hard or an easy life."

Mothers naturally want to go to the child who is crying, but the mother who lets an infant cry it out does in the long run accomplish more for her child. As you will see, these are not easy problems and I do not believe the solution lies in either extreme.

At any rate, let us gently scan our fellow man and allow him to cry when he wishes. It may be better for him than a bottle of vitamins or a good dose of salts.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Army Morale High In War Games, Fine Spirit Shown In Maneuvers

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WITH SECOND ARMY IN LOUISIANA—There is nothing basically wrong with the morale of this man's army. It is as patriotic, as courageous and as spirited as any army in U. S. history. Also, it is a lot better fit, better taken care of, equipped and trained than was the AEF when it went to France.

There is still a lot of griping among the selectees over the Service Extension Act. Most of them don't like it and make no bones about how they feel. But in frankly expressing their opinions they draw a sharp distinction between the desire to return to civilian life at the end of one year and the question of training a citizen army.

On the subject of the Extension Act the general feeling seems to be that as conditions may work out they will be called on to serve longer than those inducted this year or next. With typical American individualism they insist on everyone getting the same deal. They don't want to be the "goats." But at the same time they make it very clear that they approve of preparing for any eventuality, the defense program and aid to all enemies of Hitler.

Compulsory Training.

IN talking the past week to scores of these citizen soldiers from every walk of life, every part of the country and in every branch of the army, there was never once a word or intimation of objection to the Selective Training Act itself, the defense program or the president's anti-Axis policies.

These youths don't care for soldiering as a way of life; but they definitely do approve of the desirability of training an army big enough to defend their country. Many said they favored compulsory military training of one year duration between the ages of 18 and 21 as a permanent system. These youths also don't want to fight in a "foreign war;" but they are not isolationists. The America First Committee element draws no cheers from them. Very bitter opinions were voiced about Wheeler and Lindbergh, particularly the latter.

These youths want no part of a "foreign war," but they are prepared to fight at the drop of the hat if their country is in danger. And they believe that it is in danger. The Wheeler-Lindbergh thesis that the country need not worry about an Axis attack they dismiss with a short, blunt word.

In their training they have learned enough about the speed and scope of blitz warfare to know that the Atlantic and Pacific do not make us immune from foreign invasion. These boys have no illusions about modern warfare—and no politician or ex-hero is kidding them about it.

That's why they are for all the lend-lease aid necessary to lick Hitler in Europe if possible. They are red-hot Russian partisans and follow avidly what is transpiring on the Titanic Eastern front. Invariably they inquired about the chances of the Russians to "hold off" the Nazis.

Few Desertions.

CERTAIN isolationist statements that there will be wholesale desertions at the end of the one year training period found absolutely no confirmation among these citizen soldiers in the field here. When asked about the report they laughed about it as a mischievous joke they had put over.

The desertion rate among the citizen soldiers is the lowest in the peacetime history of the U. S. army. Even the AWOL rate is extraordinarily small.

At one time it was so infinitesimal in the 27th Division, the outfit reputed to have the lowest in morale in the 2nd army, that a special inspector was sent from Washington by the war department to investigate whether the situation was as good as reported. It was as good.

Note: The 2nd Army has a counter to "O. H. I. O." (Over the Hill in October) that sprang up among some outfits during the Extension bill debate. It is "G. I. N."—Guardhouse in November.

Amid Woods and Swamps.

PROOF of the sound patriotism and high morale of this man's army is strikingly demonstrated in the spirit displayed by the soldiers in the gruelling war games being fought out here in the vast piney woods and swamp country of the Sabine and Red River basins.

This is mean country, and the weather has been worse. It has been hot and steamy with frequent soaking showers. The woods are full of chiggers and mosquitoes are as thick and persistent as flies around a sugar bowl. The maneuvers have been fast and furious in a combat situation basically one of a mobile armored force (2nd Army) against an enemy less mobile and armored but three times as large (3rd Army). From the zero hour movement has been continuous day and night, with night operations under strict black-out.

Also the 450,000 men engaged have been in the field in divisional and intra-army maneuvers for two months. They have been able to bathe infrequently, have had to wash their own clothes, to eat on the fly. Movies and recreation have been rare. Yet the boys entered into these games with all the zest and verve of a championship football game.

Field Notes.

THE 3rd Army craftily pulled a fast one on its rival. The Thirds' intelligence branch organized groups of local folks in the small towns behind the Second's lines to telephone information about its troop movements . . . Major R. A. Griffin, public relations chief of the 2nd Army, is one newspaperman who has not let his military status warp his handling of the press. A Monterey, Calif., publisher, Griffin has made a big hit with the "war" correspondents by his unfailing co-operation . . . Genial Captain Barney Oldfield, radio officer captured by the 3rd Army, patiently explains to every newcomer at headquarters that he is not the famed auto racer . . . One thing the selectees miss sorely in the field is newspapers. They are avid readers, following war developments closely. Next to war news they want the "funnies" . . . Also the boys love mail. If you have a friend or relative in the service, write him as often as you can. Next to food mail is the soldier's chief delight.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Answering the mail orders:

T. K., McAlester, Okla.—There is only one horse-drawn artillery regiment left in the army — the 112th at Fort Bragg, N. C., and that is to be motorized before the end of the year. There are, however, still six horse-drawn battalions—three at Fort Sill, in your state, and three at Camp Ord, in California. There also are certain "horse artillery" units attached to the cavalry, but these are not the same as "horse-drawn artillery."

P. M. D., Portland, Ore.—The new age standards for commissioned officers (with limits ranging from 62 for major-generals to 30 for second lieutenants) does mean a weeding out, but there are several things that must be borne in mind. First, this applies only to officers serving with troops in the field. Thus, many over-age officers who are vigorous in health and particularly competent will be transferred to desk jobs. It does not apply to air force officers, chaplains or officers in the medical corps.

S. R., Madison, Wis.—The latest reported strength of the United States army in training and on duty was 1,580,775. Only 533,500 of these are in the regular army. The rest are national guard, reserves and trainees. The officers number close to 106,000 in all.

Mrs. H. F., Winchester, Tenn.—Men in training who were 28 years or older before July 1, 1941, do not have to complete a year of training to get out of the army if they request their release in writing from their commanding officers. This is a matter of law—not one of army policy.

Mrs. B. K., Trinidad, Colo.—I don't want to get into the thick of that argument about what encampment has the youngest "sky pilot." According to the latest records available here (they are not absolutely up to the last minute) the youngest is the Mormon chaplain, Lt. M. G. Widdison, at Fort Francis E. Warren in Wyoming. While there are no ordained ministers in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, I am told that Lieutenant Widdison has been an elder for several years, which entitles him to his commission as chaplain. There are a generous number of army chaplains still in their twenties.

C. M., El Paso, Tex.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation says there is a nation-wide drive going on now against bicycle accidents. It suggests that the agency which probably has done the greatest research in this field is the National Safety Council, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago. It is true that the increase in bicycle accidents in the country is serious, but the figures cannot be obtained here.

K. V., Salt Lake City — All right, sir, here is the item of which you are proud: Desert-bound Salt Lake City has jumped this year to second city in the country in per capita enlistments in the United States navy, with enlistments (for the first six months) of 122 men per 100,000 population; second only to Portland, Ore., which averaged 171 per 100,000. However, Mr. V., Salt Lake and Portland and all the rest of the country have their work cut out from now on. The navy soon will launch its recruiting campaign to get personnel for 100 ships that are taking shape on the ways. The quota is 13,000 men a month to Jan. 1 and 15,000 a month next year.

A Farmer's Diary

Out With the Boys

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THIS forenoon the three older boys and I walked through our neighbor's woods. The morning sun shone on our backs, our gigantic shadows marched ahead. Three pairs of bare feet pattered in the dust, much more rapidly than mine. I held the hand of the four-year-old so that he could keep up comfortably. He pulled hard on my fingers, then looked up at me and smiled.

"Daddy, when I'm as big as you I won't have to run to keep up will I?"

"No," I told him. "Then you can hold my hand." The idea amused him greatly.

We turned north into a little corner pasture, and crossed a worm fence at the border of the woods. Here tall green trees arched above our heads. The air was cooler and the carpet of last year's leaves was like wet rags. We walked over them silently.

The whole atmosphere seemed strangely different. Looking back, as from a shaded room, we could see the brilliant sunlight beyond the line of trees. The grass of the little pasture appeared much greener than when we had walked through it, only a few minutes before.

Northward through the hollow we went. They ran ahead; peered about old rotten stumps; poked sticks into open places and shoved them up hollow trees to see what might be there. They played hide and seek for a while behind larger trunks, while I stood on guard to see that no boy had peeked.

A gray squirrel ran from beneath a fallen log and spiralled up a shellbark tree. Three times we saw its sleek furry head above a branch. Farther up, a chipmunk darted across our path with tail held high and disappeared behind a stump. Then he faced us, sitting at attention on the even surface and began to scold until his tirade echoed from all the trees around.

"Daddy," asked the second boy, "is he laughing at us? He just looks like he's grinning."

"No," I said. "He's telling the other wood folk that we are here. Now all the animals will run and hide."

They ran across a little ditch a small woodland spring had made; drank from their hands of the sparkling water, like little Indians; climbed tall leaning trees, like cubs, and swung themselves down, their dark tanned bodies looking lithe and wild. They filled their pockets to overflowing with large green acorns; ran to see the tempting scarlet heads of the Indian turnips and tasted some; gathered brown glazed galls that dropped from oak trees and small painted mushrooms that poked out of soft barkless trunks. They raced over the sunflecked floor and shouted and laughed — were joyful and knew not why.

LIST WINNERS AT BUCYRUS CORN FESTIVAL

Award of Prizes In Fourth Annual Crawford County Show Made Today.

BUCYRUS—A greased pig chase and a public square dance closed Bucyrus' fourth annual Corn show Saturday night and today prizes were being awarded the various winners.

Saturday afternoon was given over to corn husking on Washington square and surveying by several thousand visitors of the displays which had been registered at the opening of the show Thursday night.

This year's corn queen, Miss Betty Stephan of Tiro, presided over Saturday's events, including the dance and fiddlers' concert led by Dan Lust's Wyandot Old Time Fiddlers.

Those in charge of the show reported over the week-end that the show this year drew the largest crowd ever to attend any previous Corn show. The crowd was estimated at 5,000 for the parade Friday night. As many attended the Saturday night events.

Among prizes won by persons taking part in the score of events for which prizes were offered were:

Best 10 ears of corn, first, Harry Gearhart; second, Wilford Snyder; third, Delbert Peterman; fourth, Warren Quaintance; fifth, Leitzy brothers. Best shock corn, first, Clifford Hoover; second, K. R. Keiter; third, H. F. Failor; fourth, J. D. Keiter; fifth, James Keller.

Oat prizes, first, Dale Springer; second, Rollin Lowmiller; third, Robert Schwaderer. Wheat, first, Dale Springer; second, E. J. Bishop; third, Peter Soldan. Longest stalk of corn, first, Paul Unger, 14 feet 3 inches long; second, William Bohn, 13 feet 5 inches; third, Melvin Hill, 12 feet 7 inches.

Longest ear of corn, first, Gerald Hatcher; second, L. H. Assenheimer; third, Robert Schwaderer; largest potato, Harry Gearhart; best potatoes, first, Dale Springer; second, Jesse Reiter; third, J. D. Reiter; fourth, John Fauser; most unique freak, James Keller, stalk of corn with five ears; best soy beans, Rollin Lowmiller; largest pumpkin, W. L. Beach.

10 MISSING IN WAKE OF FLOOD

1,000 Evacuated From Homes as Storm Strikes New Mexico.

(By International News Service)

CARLSBAD, N. M. — Debris-littered sections of Carlsbad and areas along the banks of the Pecos river were searched today for ten persons missing in the wake of the third flash flood to strike in the vicinity of the famed Carlsbad caverns this year.

The Red Cross took over the job of caring for 100 persons remaining in emergency shelters. Approximately 1,000 had been evacuated from their homes when the flood waters roared out of two canyons south of this southeastern New Mexico town Saturday night and inundated the outskirts and southern sections.

High water hindered rescue crews seeking the missing persons. No bodies had been found, causing authorities to express hope there were no drownings.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—Continued rainstorms were in prospects for New Mexico today after mountain cloudbursts snapped Albuquerque's natural gas supply and inundated two widely separated cities.

Gas gradually was being restored to hospital and business firms, but most of the 70,000 residents of New Mexico's biggest city continued to forego hot meals and baths — suspended suddenly late Saturday when a washout shattered Albuquerque's main pipline.

Streets and low-lying residential sections of Las Cruces likewise were flooded when mountain downpours sent high water surging into the city.

Thrilling Western.

Robin Hoods of the west slash their way through "Bad Men of Missouri," showing at the Madison. Dennis Morgan, Wayne Morris and Arthur Kennedy are cast as the Younger brothers who terrorized a part of the nation in the 1870's, giving their loot to the poor so that they could keep their homes from a banker who wanted to dispossess them. Romance is injected into the film by Jane Wyman who pleads with one of the brothers to give up his desperate way of living. "Tillie the Toiler," featuring Kay Harris, is the second picture.

Hand and Arm Massage Is Important

Hold 'em up, lady! Let's see what your hands and arms look like. Ha! Exactly as we thought. Getting sun baths on the beach, working in the garden, maybe. Perhaps you have a choice collection of freckles. Or, by this time, the tan is coming off in patches and you are slightly piebald. How are you going to look in that new formal that is the apple of your eye? You have a beauty task before you. Get at it. Put hands and arms in condition. Complexions get plenty of attention. Why stop at the neck line?

A hand and arm treatment that takes less than half an hour will bring joyous surprises. You can get it at your beauty shop if you are a lazy little loafer. But it is good fun when you can do it at home.

Cut a lemon in half, rub the juicy pulp over the hands and arms. If your neck is still carrying the marks of sunburn, include that too. Don't sneer at lemon juice. It may be an old fashioned notion that is scoffed at by the moderns, but it does do the business. Let it dry on. Then get out the old massage cream—cold cream is too light—and cover the entire skin surface.

Begin the massage at the finger tips, thumbing the cream into the cuticle about the nails, forcing it into the knuckles. Rub each finger and thumb with an upward movement. Start at the wrist, doing circles over the back of the hand. Do not overlook the inner surfaces of the fingers and the sides. Do the rotary motions right up the shoulder.

Give the elbows special attention. The skin is coarser there, for some reason or other, and the tiny creases are busy dust catchers. Nearly always the flesh is a bit gray. Put cream in the palm of your hand, cup the elbow there, move the hand briskly. Force as much of the cream into the skin as you can. At this season it is more or less dry, will enjoy the oily feast.

So far, so good. Both arms are creamed and frictioned. Have some almond meal in a large tin salt shaker, sprinkle it on. The cream will catch it, form a refreshing and softening pack.

Wring large turkish towels out of hot water, wind them around the arms and hands — one at a time of course. Repeat until the flesh is glowing. Remove the pack with the moist towel. Don't use soap and water, if you would get the best effect. If you have your treatment at bedtime, use a little more cream, let it remain on overnight.

One treatment a week for a month or two will bring grand results. Discolorations will disappear, the skin surface will be a velvety soft.

SOLDIER — SAILOR DOLL PATTERN 2972

'Tention! Here's the very thing for bazaar or gift — a handsome soldier and a sailor to delight the feminine heart! Both dolls are made in two identical pieces and easy embroidery completes them. Pattern 2972 contains a transfer pattern and directions for making dolls and clothes; materials required.

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft, Department, 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly Pattern Number, your Name and Address.

PATTERN 9864

Tiny fashion leaders will adore this new design by Marian Martin! Pattern 9864 has a touch of simple flower embroidery on the novelty shaped collar and cuffs. (You'll find a transfer motif included, and easy-to-follow directions in the Sew Chart). The dress buttons down the front by two-somes and there's a straight top-stitched yoke in the front and the back. The princess lines the younger crowd adore are easy to sew and have that fitted look. Notice that you may make the sleeves long instead of short, if you prefer. Embroidered natural linen collar and cuffs would contrast prettily with a plain frock like the one shown, or make the dress all of one fabric, without the embrodiery.

Pattern 9864 may be ordered only in children's sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 6 requires 2⅝ yards 35 inch fabric and ⅜ yard contrast.

Send 15 cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your Size, Name, Address, and Style Number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GABRISON

Mary's stare of astonishment at my father's words was only slightly greater than my own. The most chivalrous of men, and one who held no brief whatever for a bragging bully such as Stephen Redfield had proved himself to be, why should he feel regret that Mary, in her own picturesque parlance, had "blistered" the actor "on all sides," in resentment for the slurring remarks he had made about her husband.

"Perhaps I would better explain," he said with a smile at our amazed faces. "On almost any other occasion, I should be in the front row applauding violently while you disciplined Redfield. I have no doubt that he richly deserved all that you said to him, and more.

"But it so happens," he went on, "the information you and Miss Carew have given me about Redfield makes him an invaluable link in the chain we are forging. He is not one of the principals of the crowd we are hunting, but he is a trusted contact man, and trailing him, especially if we can trace through him some of the men he is contacting, is most important."

"God knows I hate to ask this of you, child," he said, "but the things you already have found out about Redfield and so cleverly compiled in that code of cross-word puzzles—are so vitally important that I cannot contemplate the task being left unfinished. I must ask you to go on."

Humble Pie.

Mary's face paled.

"To go on!" she breathed. "But—"

"We will take up the separate objections later," he said.

"Just now," he went on, "I want to know one thing. How seriously is Redfield offended? Do you think, if you put forth all your charm, you might be able to persuade him that you were hysterical with fright, and really did not know what you were saying?"

"I don't know," she said. "What I said was plenty. But he's awfully vain and gullible, and I might be able to swing it. But it would mean eating a lot of humble pie."

"I promise you a sweet revenge for it all, later on," my father said, and I saw with dismay that he was taking her acquiescence in his plan for granted.

"So far, so good," he said. "I leave the details in your hands. But get to work quickly. I want the old confidential relationship restored as soon as possible."

"But, Noel," Mary faltered flashing a look of appeal at me.

With a distinct "sinking feeling" inside me, I intervened.

Noel's Jealousy.

"Father!" I said, tremulously, "I think you should know that Mary faces the risk of ruining her marriage if she takes up this work for you. Noel already has given way to one fit of jealous rage over Redfield.

"Mary has shown him," I went on, "that he had no cause for jealousy, that she really detests Redfield, but what he will say or do when he finds out—"

"Stuff and nonsense!" my father exclaimed irascibly. "Noel is a sensible man, and a patriotic one. When he sees, as he must that Mary is the only person just now who can learn anything about Redfield's activities, he certainly will give his consent, if not his approval."

"I wish I could believe you," Mary said desperately. "But I can't. And how I'm ever going to tell him about it, I don't know."

"You won't have to," my father retorted, cooly, "that is until afterward. Your aunt Margaret will talk to Noel and make him see reason."

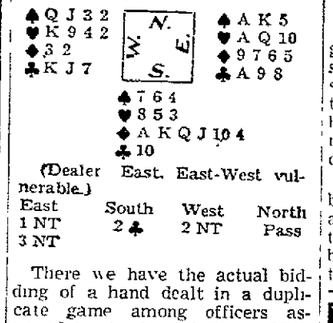
"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T WARN THE FOE

Your Right-hand opponent has just bid No Trump. If he winds up as declarer, you will be the leader. You hold a set-up suit, which you can run. Shall you bid it? Or shall you pass? Did you ever think of bidding some lower-ranking suit, feeling sure he or his partner will have it stopped and will bid No Trumps some more so that you can then run your suit and set his contract?



(Dealer East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 NT	2 ♣	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

There we have the actual bidding of a hand dealt in a duplicate game among officers assigned to the United States Military academy at West Point, N. Y. The man in the South, who bid 2-Clubs, then was Lieut. Alfred M. Gruenther, who later became a famous bridge tournament director, and now is Major Alfred M. Gruenther, well on his way up the line of army accession.

Most players would be likely to bid diamonds as an overcall the moment they heard the bidding open in the right. More thoughtful ones would decide that a minor suit game, requiring 11 tricks, would be very unlikely against a hand strong enough for a No Trump opening, and so would pass in the hope of getting more points on the defense. Still brighter ones have learned that an even better way to lure the opponents into a dangerous No Trump contract would be to bid a lower ranking suit, which the enemy would be certain to have stopped. If the bid temporarily got your side suit into trouble, because it hit a fit with your partner, you would have to bid your own real suit. This procedure, of course, involves some risk, but a very slight one in proportion to the gains which have been scored by it.

At other tables, where South bid his diamonds, the opponents got into 4-Spades and made the contract, losing two tricks in diamonds and one in clubs.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

What is your idea of the best bidding on this deal?

BRIDAL GOWNS

Manufacturers of wedding gowns are reported in a mad scramble for white silks. Even self-stripes, brocades, and novelty weaves are being stocked by houses that previously would never cut into anything except classic white satin.

A heavy pure silk faille, made by only one mill in the country and supposed to last as long as the bride's diamond ring, is being bought in pale pastels because of the shortage of white.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, Sept. 23.

An eventful and surprising day is read from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects of major planets. The unusual and unpredictable may be precipitated with dramatic effect, influencing the future and its fortunes. This will necessitate definite and sudden rearrangements of plans and objectives, and call for new environs, associates and public contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of sudden change, adventure, thrilling experiences, with some sort of public acclaim or the hearty support of those in power who may be attracted by originality, temerity bold strokes and creative ability all coming with suddenness to prove a definitely uprooting force, affecting life interests.

A child born on this day should be exceptionally talented and skillful, with great originality and independence. It will gain support from influential persons and have an adventurous career.

SARDINE BLEND

Sardines mixed with chopped hard-cooked eggs, sweet pickles and green pepper make a snappy covering for canapes, served plain or toasted. Butter the canapes lightly before covering with the sardine blend. This helps prevent sogginess. Use sardines in three times the quantity of the other ingredients combined.

Sport Podge by REX HESS

The day of the big game dawned bright and clear with just a touch of a blizzard in the air, mixed with a dash of typhoon and two dashes of bitters.

Bright morning sunlight streaming into his room awoke our hero, with the aid of a fire siren and an ancient dinner bell. The captain of the eleven opened his left eye one sixteenth of one inch and shouted happily:

"Ah, ha, this is the day we play Mugwash High. I can hardly wait."

So flexing his mighty muscles he rolled over and was tackled for a 10-yard loss in the arms of Morpheus, a ringer from Mugwash.

Two hours later he scrambled energetically from the hay, changed shirts, for his old one had gotten somewhat wrinkled during the night, and prepared for his morning training routine.

"There's nothing like Jack Hamstring's three training rules to put a guy in shape," says he.

"First—Make a friend of soap and water. Hi yah, soap. Hi yah water. There, let that keep you happy, friends, for the rest of the day.

"Second—Get plenty of exercise." So, straight to the window, he went, and closed it. "This beats me," says he, beating his puny chest three times and inhaling and exhaling one and one half times.

"Third—And now this training business gets interesting—a breakfast of champions! Maw, rustle up a dozen waffles and a string of sausage. And then stir up some more waffles. I might run short. Boy, do I like them waffles!

"And now I'm right in trim to go forth and fight the foe. Goodbye Maw, I'm off to do or die for good old High. If I do—have some waffles ready when I get back. I gotta keep in condition."

* * *

Isn't this silly? It's the kind of stuff I write when I haven't anything to write. And if it's the kind of stuff you read, then, boys and girls, you just haven't anything else to read.

Cincinnati Coach To Head Chiefs

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds announced today that Jewel Ens, Reds' coach will manage the Syracuse Chiefs of the International league next season, and Rex Blades former St Louis Cardinal manager will join the Redleg coaching staff.

* * *

Ens came to Cincinnati this year from Indianapolis of the American association to replace Jimmy Wilson who became Chicago Cubs manager.

The Reds signed a working agreement with Syracuse several weeks ago

Blades managed New Orleans of the Southern association this year. He was with the Cards in 1939 and the first half of 1940. Prior to that he spent three seasons with Rochester of the International league and from 1933 to 1935, inclusive, he was with Columbus of the American association.

Blades, a former Cardinal outfielder played with St Louis under McKechnie in 1928 and in the following year played under the Deacon at Rochester.

Cardinals, Dodgers In 'If' Week

Brooklyn Drops Half of Its Lead Yesterday With Split.

By SID FEDER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

This is "if" week in baseball.

The little word looms larger and larger as the big leagues start the final week of their season and the Brooklyn Dodgers still lead the St. Louis Cardinals by the skinny edge of one game in this nerve-wracking National league pennant chase.

* * *

The Dodgers have only five games left to play after their unexpected split with the Phillies in yesterday's twin bill, and the Cards still have six to go after knocking off the Cubs twice. The "if" is riding on every pitch now.

At this moment, here's the picture:

Club	W.	L.	G.B.	T.P.
Brooklyn	96	53	—	5
St. Louis	94	53	1	6

And, reading from left to right, here is how the little "if" gets bigger and bigger the rest of the way home:

If the Dodgers win only one of their five games, the Cards have to break at least even in their six t grab the flag.

* * *

If Brooklyn takes two, the Cards must click in four out of six.

If Dem Bums win three, the Cards have to take five.

If the Gallants of the Gowanus grab four and lose only one, the Gas Housers need to sweep six.

Naturally, if Brooklyn goes through without a loss—well, that's all, brother.

After Saturday's proceedings, in which Brooklyn downed the Phillies twice and the Cubs clouted the Cards once, to leave St. Louis two games out, it looked like the honeymoon was over for the westerners.

But yesterday the Phainting Phils refused to phaint again in the nightcap. The Dodgers took the opener, 8-3, behind the five-hit elbowing of Johnny Allen, the fugitive from the American league as a crowd of 35,909, an all-time National league high in the Quaker City, looked on. In the second game, however, Luke Hamlin brought his boom-boom ball along and served it up to Danny Litwhiler right in the first inning with the bases loaded. The last seen of the apple, it was riding in among the paying customers—and Phillies were scampering around the bases like the horses on a merry-go-round. From there, the Phils coasted home, 6-3.

Meanwhile, the Cards won their opener the hard way 6-5. The surprise-package rookie, Stan Musial, turned in a snappy base-running job in the ninth to score the game-wrecker by coming home from third when Cub Catcher Clyde McCullough left home plate unprotected to make a play at first. Young Howie Pollet took complete charge of his nightcap by tossing an eight-hitter and fanning seven for a 7-0 St. Louis win.

* * *

On the rest of the National league Sunday card, the Cincinnati Reds and the Giants did the winning. Elmer the Great Riddle chalked up his No. 18 for the season with a six-hit 2-0 whitewash job against the Pirates for the Reds' eighth straight win.

The Giants jolted the Boston (not-so) Braves twice, 4-0 and 15-1

Mickey Harris' six-hit hurling and a set of three homers gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-1 win over the Yankees That clinched second place in the American league for the Sox

The Washington Senators took a sole lease on the dizzy heights of sixth place by flailing the Philadelphia Athletics twice - 6-5 with a two-run tally in the ninth and 6-2 behind Early Wynn's eight-hit fast-balling in the second game.

St. Louis and the Indians traded shutouts, Cleveland grabbing the opener, 14-0, as Lefty Al Smith served a five-hitter, and the Brownies clicking in the second act, 3-0, as Denny Galehouse muffled his old mate with two safeties.

* * *

Tommy Bridges led the Detroit Tigers to a 6-3 win over the Chicago White Sox in their first game, but the second ended in a 11-inning 1-all deadlock when Schoolboy Rowe and Dune Rigney looked up in a twirling battle. The tie will be played off today.

LOUIS FLATLY ASSERTS HE'LL HAVE NOVA FLAT

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y. —(INS)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, priming for his title defense Sept. 29 against Lou Nova at the Polo Grounds, flatly asserted today that he would win the fight and would knock Nova out at the earliest opportunity.

"I can't say just when I'll score a victory," Louis asserted, "but I'll say if Nova gives me an opening in the first round that will be it."

Mayer Takes Possum Title

Shoots 7 Under Par To Defeat Linster 6-5.

Joe Mayer, who shoots eagles when the heat is on and bogies when it isn't, is still champion of Possum Run golf course with a 6 and 5 victory over Pete Linster in the final match of the championship flight Sunday.

* * *

"It's tough to lose holes with birdies," moaned Pete after the match, "but I haven't any defense for those eagles. They're tough to beat."

Linster was one under par for the 31 holes the match lasted, but Mayer was seven under, and that's championship golf in any league. Mayer had two eagles, nine birdies, 14 pars and six bogies.

His most sensational shot of the day came on number 18 in the morning when his second shot hit the edge of the green, curled toward the cup and just missed going in for a deuce by less than an inch, and stopped less than a foot away for a gimme eagle.

Linster was already at the side of the green, hole-high, in two with a certain birdie coming up when Mayer fired his eagle.

Mayer went three up on the first nine holes and he was five up at the end of 12, but Linster trimmed the margin down to two in the next five holes, and Mayer's eagle on the 18th left him three up for the morning round.

Linster won the first hole of the afternoon round, but Mayer came back to take the next four and go six up. Linster won the next two holes and Mayer took the 9th for a five-up margin at the end of 27.

* * *

Mayer birdied No 10 and Linster No. 11 to split the next two holes, and Mayer closed the match by winning No. 13 with a par.

Their cards:

Par	435	454	344—36
Mayer	344	444	433—33
Linster	435	454	344—36
Par	345	444	435—36
Mayer	354	554	433—36
Linster	455	444	424—36
Par	435	454	344—36
Mayer	434	335	444—34
Linster	345.	444	345—36
Par	345	4
Mayer	244	4
Linster	334	5

Red Keck defeated Adam Brandt 5 and 4 to win the first flight title in the 18-hole final match. Keck shot a 38-39—77 and Brandt a 41-42—83.

* * *

The second flight title went to Dick Trisch with a 3 and 2 victory over J. J. Anderson, and the third flight crown to J. R. Kohler with a 4 and 3 win over Jim Logsdon.

* * *

The final match in the women's championship flight was strictly a family affair, with Patty Oberlander winning the title with a 3 and 2 victory over her mother. In the second flight Mrs. William Sayre defeated Mrs. N. Neff 2 and 1 in the finals

Louisville Snares A Game From Birds

LOUISVILLE, Ky —(AP)— The Louisville Colonels will attempt tonight to even the count with the Columbus Red Birds in the fourth game of the American Association playoff finals.

Louisville fans were heartened by the home tteam's 12 to 4 triumph over the Birds here yesterday, the Colonels' first victory of the finals and one which left the game count at 2 to 1 in favor of Columbus.

Yesterday's win, following two defeats at Columbus, was scored on a 15-hit attack and with the benefit of nine-hit pitching by Emerson Dickman, coasting easily behind the Colonels' handy lead from the third inning on.

Henry Brecheen was the Birds' likely choice for mound duty tonight against Oscar Judd

The series is a best-four-out-of-seven affair to determine which team meets the International league playoff winner in the "Little World Series."

Why Boys Go Out For The Football Team

Say, if such nifties as Helen Harms report for the football team at Compton, Cal., junior college, the coach should have a pretty big squad out for the team. But Helen, drum majorette at the school, isn't out for the team. She just couldn't resist booting one during practice. Claude Eshelman, the Compton backfield star, holds the ball.

BUCKEYES GET GANDER AT MISSOURI SETUP

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The Ohio State football team got its first look at Missouri's offense today as the Buckeyes started their final week of practice for the opener Saturday against the Tigers.

Coach Paul Brown is using pictures of the Buckeyes' 19 to 0 win over Missouri in 1939 and several scouting reports of last year's game as the basis for drilling his charges for the Tigers.

Season Fades For Indians

Play Final Home Game, Battling For Third Plate.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—This is the day the fourth-place Cleveland Indians make the final appearance of the season before the yawning home fans.

Only a few months ago the customers were certain that by this time the Indians would be planning for the World Series. Instead, the most serious things at stake against St. Louis today are third place, Bob Feller's 25th victory and Jeff Heath's closing sprint for the runs-batted-in leadership.

Heath drove in five runs as the Indians hammered Elden Auker and Jack Kramer for 18 hits yesterday to give southpaw Al Smith a 14 to 0 shutout—and the largest Tribal victory margin of the year. Then their old teammate Denny Galehouse permitted them only two singles to register a 3 to 0 triumph over Chubby Dean in the second game.

As a result the Indians gained a half contest on the Chicago White Sox and are only a half game out of third place, but lost a half game to the Detroit Tigers and so enter the last week of their campaign only a contest out of fifth.

Heath's splurge pushed him into second place in the American league's RBI department, his 119 placing him only three behind Charley Keller of the Yankees, who is out for the season, and one ahead of Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees and Ted Williams of the Red Sox.

CARDS PRINT BUT WON'T SELL SERIES TICKETS

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— The Cardinals have placed printing orders for World series tickets but applications for reservations will not be accepted until the pennant is won.

This was announced yesterday by President Sam Breadon, who added:

"We have handled World series arrangements so frequently that we know all about the procedure and it will be no problem to handle the sale between the close of the season and the first game at Sportsman's park—if we win the pennant."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Monday matinee: Just when you begin to think the Cards might as well cancel that order to print world series tickets, there they come again. . . . It's a cinch now that, no matter who wins, the National league champs won't get to catch a deep breath before the world series. . . . When Johnny Mize was hurt it looked bad for St. Loo, but it looked bad for Mize when Johnny Hopp stole home yesterday, and it must be a swell feeling for any manager to have kids like Stan Musial waiting for a chance to show what they can do when the going gets tough. After riding Whirlaway Saturday, Jockey Alf Robertson remarked: "Whirlaway wanted to run and the others either couldn't or wouldn't. I wished that War Relic were in that race."

SATURDAY'S CHILD.

All Brooklyn is letting
About young Paul Scheffing,
Whose homer left the Cards bare.
The Cubs won't promote him
But the Dodgers should vote him
Thanks and a full series share.

Private Chuck McCarthy, former Bristol, Conn., Press sports editor, announces he'll holler louder than that guy at Camp Wheeler about how good "them bums" are if it will get him a free trip to the world series. . . . Add the U. of Georgia to the colleges who agree that four bits is enough to charge a doughboy to see a football game. . . . Both of Auburn's 1940 grid captains, Dick McGowen and Ernest Mills, are in training at Fort Sill, Okla., along with a dozen other Auburn athletes of recent vintage.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Mark Daily, Canton, Ill., Daily Ledger: "No one can accuse the White Sox of being mercenary. After tossing aside a good opportunity at grabbing second place money, they seem to be doing their darndest now at eliminating themselves from and fourth place money."

LAST LAUGH.

Columnist Jim Schlemmer of the Akron (O.) Beacon-Journal, apologizing for pulling a couple of boners, writes: "If this kind of reporting keeps up, I'll soon be as bad as the Clevelanders who were writing in June and early July to the effect the Indians might win the pennant by 15 games."

Taggart Wins Two Ohio Regatta Cups

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va. —(AP)—Joe Taggart of Canton, O., won both the William Randolph Hearst trophy and the Magnolia yacht club cup in the 15-mile 225-cubic inch displacement class of the fourth annual Ohio river regatta Sunday and set a new world record of 73170 miles an hour over the 2.5-mile straightaway.

* * *

The previous record of 70.810 miles an hour was set last year by Jack Cooper of Kansas City, who finished six lengths behind Taggart in the event.

* * *

Henry Shrake of Canton, in the 135-inch division, drove his "Sally JoeI" to a new record of 62.068 miles an hour, besting the previous record of 57.471 held by Edison Hedges of Maryland.

Bissman Team Blanks Bucyrus

Mansfield bowling teams broke even in opening matches of the NCO, traveling league yesterday as Bissman's defeated one Bucyrus team at the Colony alleys 3 to 0, and Liederkranz lost at Bucyrus 1-2.

* * *

Bissman's took the first game by only one pin, 844 to 843, but they left no room for doubt as to the winner in the next two games. Dale Cleckner showed the way with 176-188-244—608, and Sonny Meder had 209-226-170—605.

* * *

Nick Schmidt had the best score for Liederkranz with 196-189-168—553.

SOOSE OVERWEIGHT

POMPTON LAKES, N. J.—(U.P.)—Unable to make the 160-pound limit required for middleweights, Billy Soose of Pittsburgh, recognized by the New York State boxing commission as world middleweight boxing champion, said today that he would relinquish his title and fight as a light heavyweight.

MRS. GRIEBLING WINS GALION GOLF TITLE

GALION—Mrs. C. J. Griebling won the Women's club championship tournament at the Galion Country club over the week-end by defeating Mrs. R. W. Marsh. This is Mrs. Griebling's third year to hold the title.

Another tournament completed at the Country club was the Sportsman's Cup tournament of which J. W. Guinup of Crestline is winner.

Snead Shoots At Gold Lead

Moving Up Fast on Ben Hogan's Vardon Cup.

PHILADELPHIA—(UP)— If Ben Hogan looked over his shoulder today he might see the spectre of a tall, dark man from the mountains who threatens to pry loose his grip on the Vardon Cup—symbol of supremacy in professional golf.

* * *

The mountain shooter is Samiel Jackson Snead, the hillbilly now of Hot Springs, W. Va., who romped off with the $7,500 Hurst invitation tournament yesterday.

P.G.A. Tournament Director Fred Corcoran watched Slammin' Sammy win the 72-hole Hurst with 272—eight under par and nine strokes ahead of his nearest foe—and declared "this looks like it might be Sam's year again."

* * *

"Snead has a fine chance of catching Hogan," said Corcoran. "There are six more tournaments this year and the way Sam looked today, he's going to be hard to stop."

* * *

But Benny's still leading the year's money winners with $15,983 against Snead's second place $11,498.

Pro Football Teams Start

Bears and Redskins Open Campaigns Next Sunday.

(By United Press)

The champion Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins, the only teams that have not played yet in the National Professional Football league, open their 1942 campaigns Sunday. The Bears invade Green Bay and the Redskins play host to the New York Giants.

* * *

Two night games also are scheduled for this week-end, Brooklyn playing at Philadelphia and Detroit at the Chicago Cardinals Saturday.

* * *

Green Bay overpowered the Cleveland Rams, 24-7, Sunday, taking first place in the western division. The Packers, although far superior in every department, were held to seven points for three periods before Cleveland finally gave way before a bruising attack in 90-degree heat. Green Bay registered two more touchdowns and a field goal in the final period.

* * *

Brooklyn climbed into a tie for first place in the eastern division by defeating the Detroit Lions, 14-7. A crowd of 19,269 at Ebbets field watched Ace Parker and Bill Leckonby throw touchdown passes to offset a Detroit score which came in the last few minutes on a 42-yard gallop by Ned Matthews with an intercepted pass.

* * *

Quarterback Len Barnum sparked the Philadelphia Eagles to a 10-7 triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers. Barnum booted a 43-yard field goal for the game's first score in the second period and after the Steelers had gone in front with a third-period touchdown, he started the winning play with a lateral to Dan De Santis. The latter passed to Lou Tomasetti who romped 23 yards for a touchdiwn. Barnum converted.

Jim Weems Rolls 647 For Eagles

Jim Weems clouted the maples for a 647 total on games of 188-221-238 yesterday but the Eagles dropped a 1-2 decision to Fostoria bowlers in a special match at the Colony alleys.

Buckeyes Kick Off This Week

Ohio State Starts Season Under New Coaching Staff.

(By Associated Press)

The eagerly-awaited unveiling of Ohio State university's 1941 football team under its new coach, Paul E. Brown, highlights Ohio's 22-game grid program this week.

The Buckeyes open the season Saturday in a clash with Missouri university at the Buckeye stadium in Columbus.

* * *

Two Ohio conference games also are on the Saturday card with Wooster at Bowling Green and Heidelberg at Otterbein. Ohio Northern and Findlay meet in a loop contest Thursday night.

* * *

The week's schedule gets under way tonight, with the Rio Grande at Louisville game being carried over from Saturday because the Rio Grande team encountered bus trouble and arrived hours after the scheduled game time.

* * *

Other Saturday games were decided by lop-sided scores. At Cincinnati, the University of Cincinnati Bearcats beat Transylvania college of Lexington Ky., 46 to 0, while at Oxford, Miami university opened the season with a 53 to 0 victory over Hanover college of Madison, Ind. Bluffton took a 26-0 licking from Grand Rapids university of Grand Rapids, Mich.

This week's program:

SLOW MARKET KEEPS GAINS, LOSSES EVEN

War News Blamed For Lack of Action; Scarcity of Steel Scrap Seen.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — A languid-looking stock market today kept its negligible gains and losses about balanced.

While there was no apparent disposition to press offerings, timidity was pronounced from the start.

Brokers again blamed the war news principally for the speculative inertia. Little cheer was derived from bulletins telling of further Nazi successes in the Ukraine, the possible shift of Bulgaria to the German side and the seeming stalemate in negotiations between Washington and Tokyo. The business picture also was without particularly stimulating qualities.

Market observers found scant comfort in the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that "grave results are feared by the steel industry" because of the scarcity of scrap which is becoming more threatening each week.

NEW TWIST

Doctor Calls at Home to Find Three With Broken Wrists.

LYNCHBURG, Va. — (AP) — The next time the doctor is called to the W. H. Boswell household he probably will make extra sure he has some splints.

Mrs. Alice Barksdale, a boarder, fell and snapped her left wrist.

Then Mrs. B. J. McFarmer, a daughter of Mrs. Boswell, fell and broke her left wrist.

Mrs. Boswell, reaching to turn off a light, fell—and fractured her left wrist.

THREE KILLED

Indiana Men Die as Car Plunges From Highway Near Hamilton.

HAMILTON—(INS)—Three Newcastle, Ind., men were killed today when their speeding auto plunged from the highway into a ditch, six miles west of Hamilton. They were Lester and Howard Cook and Thomas Curran. The impact was so great that Curran was hurled 75 feet from the wrecked machine.

An auto accident in Preble county cost the lives of Goldie Tussey, 14, and Mrs. Rose Adams, 18, who died in Hamilton hospitals. Eight others were injured in the same crash.

GET FUNDS FOR HOME

CLEVELAND —(U P)— Portage county commissioners today received a $35,000 bequest from Mrs. Laurabelle Robinson, widow of Henry M. Robinson, Ravenna-born banker and adviser to former President Hoover, to increase the size of the Robinson Memorial hospital nurses' home in Ravenna.

BOWEL WORMS CAN'T HURT ME!
That's what YOU think!
Learn the truth! Nowadays it is easy for you—or anybody, anywhere—to "catch" roundworms. And these ugly creatures can cause great distress inside you, without your even knowing what is wrong.
Use Jayne's Vermifuge to drive out roundworms before they can "get set" and make trouble. Jayne's is America's best known proprietary worm medicine; used by millions for over a century.
When you notice fidgeting, itchy nose or seat, uneasy stomach, loss of weight—suspect roundworms—and get Jayne's Vermifuge right away! It expels stubborn worms, yet acts very gently. When no worms are there, it works merely as a mild laxative. Demand Jayne's Vermifuge! At all drug stores.

CHAPTER VII

"Can I get you a glass of water, Martin?" asked Dorothy Mayfield.

"No. No thanks."

"Or—or anything? It must hurt terrible. I could bring—"

"It's nothing. Dazed me a bit is all, the insufferable boor!"

Baby Doll nodded. She had taken Martin to the east sun porch when the others all departed, and she was determined to find some way to minister to him. She got another pillow and placed it at his back, and sat down on a hassock to face him.

"Martin, I want to study art myself. Will you teach me? Will you?"

"Why, of course, Baby Doll. Only—"

"Oh gee-e-e-e! Portraits, and mill pond scenes, and vases of simply gorgeous flowers like you paint, Martin? Oh-h-h-! I was talking to Jeannie Baughman. She'd like to take lessons, too. But I discouraged her, Martin. She took up tennis and wasn't a bit good at it. She doesn't have—doesn't have flair. You know what I mean. I think one should know how to concentrate on something. It's turning dark, Martin. Don't you want an ice pack or something to put on it?"

"Baby Doll!" Her mother called within and Dorothy excused herself. Mrs. Mayfield was in the dining room. "You needn't be so attentive to Martin, honey," she said, in a lower tone. "It isn't good form to offer too much."

"I don't see why."

"Because, the incident must be quite embarrassing to him, dear. Best forget it. And go ask him if he will have lunch with us on the porch. I'm sure he will."

Baby Doll at 17 looked 18 and often acted 13, her mother realized. But her intentions were usually good, which made her sweet. And she was likely to sympathize with anything that seemed to need sympathy. There had been a horse cut on barbed wire last month, for instance.

Last night handsome Dal Tower had come to Rangeville, and big sister Lillian had pre-empted him. The move had caused a girlish reaction in Baby Doll. Mrs. Mayfield knew, so that now Baby Doll was centering on Martin Deale who could use a lot of attention, spoiled as he was. Mrs. Mayfield sighed, rather elaborately, to herself. Her two offsprings were an eternal responsibility. Not the least of her concern was the fact that she was youngish enough in spirit to have a kindred feeling with them. She had to mother them, discipline them, instill her family and community traditions of conduct in them, and still yearn to be free and unconventional with them. It kept Millie Mayfield put out with herself most of the time.

Martin stayed for lunch. With rather severe formality he ate and conversed, and afterward he asked permission to escort his two hostesses to the mass meeting downtown.

Baby Doll brightened at once. She had already heard mother say she would have none of it. Now, contrarily, mother changed her mind.

"Thank you, Martin, we shall be glad to go," she said, in her soft, gracious voice. "It will no doubt be—crowded. But I suppose one has a duty." She said nothing about her own inherent curiosity.

Baby Doll sat by Martin in Martin's car. They couldn't get nearer than three blocks and even then had to park in old Mrs. Tucker's driveway. Mrs. Tucker had no car, they knew, and wouldn't mind. They had hardly stopped before Mrs. Tucker popped out of her front door, however.

"I'll have to charge you for that!" she cried. "There's money in Rangeville now."

They were not a little startled. Old Mrs. Tucker, of all people!

Martin spoke up. "Why certainly, Mrs. Tucker. I ah, expected to pay you of course, providing you have no objection to our using the space. If you will be so kind as—"

"Oil means money young man, let me tell you! I got all my rooms rented, and bless me if they haven't come begging for cots in my hall! I could have rented my rooms for double what I got!"

"Ohum. Yes indeed. And—how much is the parking?"

"It'll be one dollar, young man."

* * *

Martin said nothing. Mrs. Mayfield and Baby Doll looked quickly at him. A dollar! Rangeville did not have a single parking lot, but even in Dallas and Fort Worth and Houston parking lot fees were never over 50 cents. Mrs. Mayfield's chin lifted, but Martin spoke again.

"Sure, Mrs. Tucker," said he, with a deadly formality. "Here it is."

The haughteur Martin showed was lost on garrulous Mrs. Tucker, who was still talking when he led his two companions away.

"It's outrageous!" Mrs. Mayfield whispered.

"Not at all! Quite all right!" Martin lied. "Such a crowd everywhere! Odd how oil can breed madness, Mrs. Mayfield."

"I have heard of it. The better citizens will not tolerate any ridiculous boomtown life in Rangeville, this is a respectable community."

"I should say so!" Martin nodded emphatically.

A car full of people recognized them and somebody yelled.

"Hey, hello Baby Doll! Mrs. Mayfield! And Martin!"

They were youths also seeking a parking place, and had stopped of necessity now. Dorothy ran to the curb, near them.

"Saw Lillian last night with Clark Gable!" some youngster shouted.

"They're downtown together now!" a girl put in. "It's the new doctor, isn't it? What's his first name, Martin? Hunh?"

"Oh, dear!" Mrs. Mayfield murmured.

"Dallas Tower," Baby Doll supplied, bubblingly. "And he's the best looking thi-i-i-ing! He was out to the house last night for a while. We talked for quite a while. I could introduce you kids. He's nice!"

Baby Doll wasn't going to miss a band wagon, however much switching of loyalties she had to do!

Cheese and crackers are not artistocratic, but they make up for that by being satisfying. If Dr. Dal Tower needed atmosphere and such for his midday meal, Lillian supplied it by being beautiful sitting there across the lard barrel from him. It was almost the first quiet moment he had known since becoming acquainted with her and something in him responded in a delightful way.

"You have high pigmentation," he said, unexpectedly.

Lillian's eyebrows lifted.

"I mean — color," he explained. "It's mostly natural, I see. You don't have to use lipstick and rouge."

"Oh. No much. Sometimes I forget it entirely. I get outdoors a lot. Daddy taught me that. Ride, and play some tennis, and help Jason in the garden. Jason makes me take my exercise."

"Jason!" Dallas smiled. "A faithful servant. I like him. Come on, let's go out with the thundering herd. Hear 'em thunder?"

It wasn't literal thunder but it was almost so. The high school band had a drummer who did his best to make it literal, and he was about all of his band that could be heard now because people were cheering while stretching their necks to see the courthouse steps.

Dal elbowed a path for himself. "Stick right behind me for a front-row view," he ordered Lillian, holding her hand.

Passing Garwil's store they came onto Thad Monroe and that happy-go-lucky fellow joined them, forming a sort of human link behind Lillian. Clarence Wiedower joined the chain next, then Eleanor Price and the Moss sisters. Other friends recognized them and gleefully tagged on. Thad recognized M. J. Parker and broke in a spot for him. It was M. J. who asked a pertinent question.

"Well, where's Martin Deale now? And how is he?"

"Nursing his puss," Thad supplied, inelegantly.

"Hush," Lillian ordered.

"Oh, it was about time for somebody to tune Mart down," Thad went on. "Had it coming to him, if you ask me. Understand, I like him; but a fellow goes off at a tangent once in a while and—"

"Right," M. J. nodded. "But skip it now, eh? Tower's up ahead. Pulling like a train engine."

The center of excitement turned out to be Mayor Scott with Alderman Watkins, a physician; C. L. Pollard, superintendent of schools; Ned Pressly, a banker and insurance man; and Tip Hale, county sheriff. These community leaders were struggling to maintain a certain personal decorum and yet whoop and holler in the contagion of celebration around them. Because no wind can blow both hot and cold, they weren't succeeding very well. The mass meeting was set for 2 p. m. but the public square was already jammed here at 1:10 p. m.

"It just won't do to start early, or other folks will be angry," Mayor Scott kept repeating.

"These already here are getting restless," the sheriff warned.

"There's my young protege!" Dr. Watkins suddenly barked. "There's Dallas Tower I was telling you about. He saved those men last night! He and Miss Lillian Mayfield were the first ones at the gusher after it broke. They saved lives at the hospital, too! Tower's the young man people are talking about, Mr. Scott!"
